ILLUSTRATED
Catalogue of the
SECOND HUNDRED of PAINTINGS
by OLD MASTERS

Of the Dutch, Flemish, Italian, French and English Schools belonging to the

Sedelmeyer Gallery

Which contains about
1000 original Paintings of ancient and modern artists

PARIS

6, RUE LA ROCHEFOUCAULD, 6

1895

CHAS. SEDELMAYER, Publisher and Art dealer in Paris, has the richest stock of original paintings in Europe.

His gallery includes over 500 pictures by Old Masters, of which this Catalogue describes only a portion, and a similar number of pictures by living artists and of the Barbizon School.

CHAS. SEDELMAYER, who imported and sold to the United States the two celebrated paintings by Munkacsy « Christ before Pilate » and « Christ on Calvary », controls the works of this artist and those of V. Brozik, Tito Lessi, Eugene Jettel, etc.

He publishes every year some highly artistic and important plates of which only a small number of proofs are printed.

He is preparing now a most extensive book in 8 volumes on Rembrandt, containing the reproductions of all the works of this master; the text to be written by Doctor W. Bode, Director of the Berlin Gallery. Subscriptions now to be taken.

The prospectus of this book and the illustrated catalogues of the other publications to be had at CHAS. SEDELMAYER'S, 6, rue Larocheſoucauld, Paris.

DUTCH AND FLEMISH SCHOOLS

CAPPELLE (JAN VAN DE)
(XVIITH CENTURY)

1. — A View on a Canal in Winter

On the right, cottages under trees. In the centre of the foreground figures playing golf on the frozen canal. On the left a man pushing along a sledge in which is a woman. Numerous skaters in the distance. Effect of sunset.

Signed and dated 1653.
Canvas, 17 in. by 20 1/2 in.

(1618-1684)

11

FRANCKEN (FRANS) the younger
(1580-1642)

2. — The Seven Acts of Mercy

The principal group of figures in this picture, apparently portraits of the members of a distinguished Flemish family and consisting of two gentlemen, an elderly lady, three young ladies and a boy, has been painted by Gonzales Coques. The artist has placed these personages round a large table covered with loaves of bread, and in front of the entrance to a seigneurial structure: they are in the act of exercising two of the most eminent of the Christian virtues, namely, feeding the hungry and clothing the naked. All the rest of the composition which completes the exemplification of this series of moral duties has been painted by Frans Francken the younger.

Signed D. FRANKEN. CT ft A. 1630.
Canvas, 69 in. by 101 1/2 in.

1. — CAPPELLE (Jan van de).

2. — COQUES (G.) and FRANKEN (Frans) the younger.

CUYP (AELBERT)
(1620-1691)

3. — The Prince of Orange with his Sons

The prince of Orange with his sons, prepared to depart for the chase. The former, elegantly habited in a purple dress, is mounted on a dappled grey horse and appears to be giving directions to his garde de chasse, who stands near holding two dogs in leash: one of the young princes, dressed in blue, rides a dark bay pony: the other, wearing a scarlet jacket, is on a black horse; the landscape exhibits an open country with a castle in the distance, and on the opposite side is seen a sportsman coursing a hare: the brilliancy of a fine sunny morning pervades the scene.

Signed: A. Cuyp.
Canvas, 44 in. by 61 in.

This very important work was brought to England by M. Delahante.

From the Collections of Lapeyrière, 1825.

T. Emmerson, Esq., 1829.

Lyne Stephens, 1847.

Described in Smith's Catalogue Raisonné, part V, pages 320, n° 150.

34. — Arion rescued by the Dolphins

Arion, the poet and musician, on his way back from Sicily, where he had vanquished his competitors, was nearly falling a victim to the plot of the mariners, who had decided to kill him and rob him of his treasures.

Apollo had, in a dream, warned Arion of the imminent danger. But his sweet melodies could not mollify the bandits, and they threw him into the sea.

A crowd of dolphins, attracted by Arion's magic tunes, had followed the vessel. One of them took him on his back and deposited him safely at the promontory of Taenarus.

Rubens has represented Arion in the fore-ground, with his lyre in his hand and crowned with a laurel wreath. A red cloth hangs loosely over his shoulders. He is riding on the dolphin, that carries him through a greenish sea, ploughed by huge billows.

The vessel, with the sailors, is in the middle distance; a square sail is attached to its mast. Three rowers are on the right. Bluish sky.

WILKIE (SIR DAVID) R. A.
(1785-1841)

100. The Preaching of John Knox before the Lords of the Congregation, 10th June 1559

Close to the pulpit on the right of Knox are Richard Ballenden, his amanuensis, with Christopher Goodman, his colleague; beyond them, in the scholar's cap and gown is Crichton, student of St. Andrews. Under the pulpit is Thomas Wood, the precentor, with his hour glass; the schoolboy below is John Napier, Baron of Merchiston, inventor of the logarithms; and further to the right is a child which has been brought to be baptised when the discourse is over. On the other side of the picture, in red, is the Lord James Stuart, afterwards Regent Murray; beyond is the Earl of Glencairne; and in front, resting on his sword, is the Earl of Morton, behind whom is the Earl of Argyll, whose countess, the half sister of Queen Mary, and the lady in attendance upon her, make up the chief light of the picture.

Canvas, 17 3/4 in. by 20 3/4 in.
